JAMAICA PLAIN FRIENDLY SOCIETY

1901-1902.

The Jamaica Plain Friendly Society brings again an appeal to its friends for their interest and co-operation in its work, and for their generous financial support.

Moments of discouragement cannot fail to come to the small body of workers in our society as they realize the great needs to be met among the poor and suffering, and the difficulty of obtaining new helpers and sufficient funds to enable them to go on from year to year.

Still, as we believe that such work as our society has done for many years is needed, so long as poverty and suffering exist in this neighborhood, we put aside our temporary discouragements, and look forward hopefully to the work of a new year.

It will be seen by our Treasurer's report that but one salary is paid in our society, and that the rest of the money entrusted to us is spent for coal and provisions, boots and rubbers, sewing which is given out to needy women, and for necessary printing.

The paid agent is a most important person in carrying on our work. It is her duty to be at our room five mornings every week from October to May, to receive applicants and report their cases to the committee, to cut out and take charge of garments made, to keep record books and accounts, and often to visit and investigate cases. The Case Committee takes charge of the greater part of the visiting and holds weekly meetings to discuss the cases in their care and the new ones which are constantly coming up.

We have also a small list of friendly visitors to whom the committee can turn over the care of families after the first visits of investigation.

Last year great economy had to be exercised, and our committee listened anxiously to the Treasurer's report which was read at the monthly meetings, fearing that the funds might not carry us through the spring. With a very small balance for summer needs, we closed our active work in May. We hope that our friends may notice this small balance, and that they may be ready to respond promptly and generously when they are called upon by our solicitors in November, as there is now the prospect of greater need than usual among our poor people this winter.

The Case Committee and the visitors hold themselves ready to give thought and time to all reports of distress and need that may be brought to their notice. Our society especially wishes to discourage begging and assistance to beggars.

In this connection we quote from a late Report of the Mendicity Society of Edinburg: "It must never be forgotten that the mere act of giving is not charity — Investigation is the foundation of every act of real benevolence to the poor and the adaptation of relief to their real wants the only means of preventing the misapplication of the charity of the public. Were it kept in view how seldom the mite which is given to relieve the ear from the tale of misery, or the eye from the look of famine, is so applied, and how often it is carried to the saloon, our exhortation to withhold indiscriminate alms would not be in vain."

A great variety of cases have claimed our care during the past year, and our work has brought us into conference with hospitals and institutions and with many societies and organizations. Work of different kinds has been found for a number of applicants, and our sewing has been a great help to thirty-six women.

We wish to thank all who have helped us with money, or in any way, and to ask for a continuance of interest and of sympathy with the objects and aims of our society.

There are many wretched homes in our midst, many men and women who are facing the winter with great anxiety. Shall we not hold ourselves ready to act as friends and neighbors to these people when their needs are brought to us?

Our room is open from 10 to 1 on week days, except Saturdays and holidays, from October 1st to May 1st. A list of women needing work of different kinds, among them some competent seamstresses, also a list of men out of work will be found on our agent's books. A supply of well-made plain underclothing, also children's dresses and aprons, are kept for sale at the hall.

Gifts of second-hand clothing, boots and shoes are always most acceptable, as the visitors have many families during the winter who need to be supplied with these articles.

ELLEN C. MORSE,
for Case Committee.
